

MISSIONARY NEWS
AUGUST 12, 2018

Eli and Bethany Fader (SIM, Uganda, North Africa) are returning to North Africa where they will be living in Gula, a small town in Uganda. Here they will serve South Sudanese refugees, basically continuing the same ministries of discipleship and theological training as before. They are thankful as God has provided a furnished house they will be using for the time being. They will leave on August 16th, as Isaac is enrolled in Rift Valley Academy in Kenya and will begin classes on Aug 23rd. Please pray for him as this will be the first time in a boarding school and there will be adjustments. Also, pray for the family as they adjust to their new home and the absence of Isaac. They thank you for your prayers as they continue to walk where God leads them.

George and Kathy Cail (SIM, Burkina Faso, Africa) thank God for the refreshing time they spent in the U.S. with family and friends. Back in Burkina Faso the teams they minister to are asking these questions- should we continue, what do we do when a ministry is shut down, does God have a purpose for us somewhere else? All these questions arise because of the instability and unsettled conditions in Burkina Faso. Their request: please pray for God's peace in the midst of uncertainty, strength in their weakness, unwavering trust in God's sovereignty and wisdom for leaders who will make the ultimate decisions for the teams. They send their thanks for standing with them.

Jeff and Sissie D'Jernes (Wycliffe Bible Translators, Papua New Guinea) report the Keliko people of South Sudan received The New Testament in their language. A huge milestone for Wycliffe and the translation partners they work with to provide Bible Translations globally. Best of all it means the Keliko people can hear and read God's message of love in their own language. Thank you for your support in this ministry.

Scott and Julia Whittaker (Global Outreach International) working with Sudanese and other Arabic – speaking refugees in the Triad area of N.C. Serving Arabic speaking refugees who are mostly Muslims and helping them adjust to life in America is a joy to the Whittakers, They love it when some of these express that they “Love America”. More than that, they love it when the time spent sharing and explaining the Bible and Jesus brings someone to the beginning of their journey to Christ. Recently, a young man Scott had been sharing with moved away. Pray with him that the gospel will bring him to salvation. Please pray for the Whittaker's support as it has declined as well as for strength and wisdom as they minister in the Triad.
